Alexander & Baldwin names experienced REIT executive James Mead as new Chief Financial Officer

July 10, 2017

HONOLULU, July 10, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- Alexander & Baldwin, Inc. (NYSE:ALEX) (A&B or Company), a New York Stock Exchange listed real estate investment trust, today announced James E. Mead has been named chief financial officer, effective immediately. Mead succeeds Paul K. Ito, who will continue as senior vice president, finance and treasurer of A&B through the end of the year to ensure a smooth transition.

Jim Mead most recently served as chief financial officer for SL Green Realty Corporation, a real estate investment trust and the largest office landlord in New York City, from late 2010 to early 2015, a period during which the Company realized a 75% increase in its stock price. Prior to joining SL Green, Mead served as CFO of Strategic Hotels & Resorts (2004-2010) and Irvine Company Apartment Communities (1996-1999), and held executive positions with Irvine Company and JP Morgan.

"We are fortunate to find someone with Jim's broad experience in commercial real estate and real estate investment trusts, deep knowledge of capital markets, and proven track record in leading and developing strong financial teams. He will be an invaluable addition to our leadership team as we focus on our strengths in commercial real estate and work to effect our conversion to a real estate investment trust," said Chris Benjamin, A&B president and CEO.

Mead holds a bachelor's degree in engineering from Tulane University and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Virginia. He currently serves on the Board of Directors for Easterly Government Properties and the Boards of Advisors for The CenterCap Group and Tulane University School of Science and Engineering.
